The Applied Self-Instruction Foundation presents:

JUST SOME ME TIME....

It is with great pleasure that the Museum of Human Achievement announces a partnership with the Applied Self-Instruction Foundation (AS-IF) for our annual East Austin Studio Tour program entitled "Just Some Me Time..."

As a culmination of their research, the Applied Self Instruction Foundation has designed this comprehensive exhibition to allow for maximum self-reflection. In the interest of presenting truly singular and personal encounters, only one viewer will be allowed in the exhibit at a time for no more than 7 minutes. To facilitate this presentation of "me time," MoHA will be a one-capacity environment for the duration of EAST. We will provide a waiting room with video and new media curated by Ghosting.tv, Juegos Rancheros, and the Austin Museum of Digital Art.

Please see the following message from Rakete BeeBee, the founder of AS-IF:

"The Applied Self-Instruction Foundation was founded in order to facilitate encounters that extend the potential for contemporary (and future) human beings to live less stressfully. AS-IF presents experiences which are compelling antidotes to boredom and sullenness while injecting vitality into contemporary ways of being.

At MoHA, AS-IF will present a series of potential encounters, each of which is meant to be experienced solely by an unaccompanied individual. After many years of extensive research and study, we have concluded that the optimal amount of just-getting-away-from-it-all time is 5 minutes and 10 seconds. Inside the gallery, you will find each of various experiences on display that represent the full spectrum of all possible things a person would want to do in their time away from the chaos and melodrama of daily life."

SCREENINGS FROM

KOKOFREAKBEAN, ELENOR KOPKA, JOSH SHAFFNER, SWAP MEET (CURATED BY CALEB WOOD)

Ghosting is a hang out for experimental animators and video artists. (and everyone else)

"...Because everyone needs a lil' fantasy"

We present work from a carefully curated selection of artists. This is not a traditional screening, it's more like going to a show. Work is presented in 15 minute sets, with breaks in between so you can discuss, absorb, and get to know your neighbors! Venue opens at 8, screenings start shortly after, and we keep the party going until everyone leaves. Come and hang out! Network with your peers IRL in a "Pretty Cool" environment, enhanced by lot'sa booze.

Pastelegram Presents: Performances Tapes #2

TRISHA BROWN: EARLY WORKS

In this second iteration of Performance Tapes, Pastelegram will screen the early works of experimental dance pioneer and postmodern choreographer, Trisha Brown. A founding member of the Judson Dance Theatre, Brown is best known for her early works, which weave quotidian movements into choreographies that are both humorous and spatially complex. This screening will offer a short survey of Brown's work from the 60s and 70s, focusing on her lighthearted take on minimalism and the body as well as her distinctive movement vocabulary (angular, yet fluid; defined by the body, yet seeking to exceed it).

Artist/Writer Lauren Klotzman + Dancer/Choreographer Kirstan Clifford will introduce the screening and moderate discussion.

PERFORMANCE TAPES is a new series of screenings dedicated to recordings of performances and other live art events from the 1960s to today.

Support The Museum of Human Achievement

Art is hard and the struggle is real.

In accordance with our mission, MoHA makes an active effort to support a local community of artists, makers, and audience members in presenting experimental and emerging work. Any donation to help us continue to facilitate new events and experiences is greatly appreciated.

Interested in Volunteering?

We are always looking for more helping hands with all of the work we do.

No previous experience is necessary.

Please be respectful of our neighbors.

Park in our lot and be aware of outside noise.

Be cool, fellow human.
